To the hiring manager(s) at Z Networks,

I am excited for this opportunity to be considered for your graphic design position.

As a passionate and committed lifelong artist, I thrive in creative and intellectual environments, contributing my expansive skill, competency, and curiosity to the team I am a part of. I have experience in the realm of freelance and self-started projects, including formatting and illustrating children's books and memoirs. As an illustrator, I have illustrated books, been extensively commissioned for portraiture and tattoo design, and honed my unique skillset with my own projects. As a designer, I've enjoyed creating logos, flyers and other marketing and branding materials, including work for streamers on the Twitch platform.

I take joy in exercising and strengthening many skills that are highly relevant to the work required in a collaborative environment. Adaptability and flexibility are key strengths of mine and I apply myself to new situations with confidence as well as openness to learning new approaches. I have a highly developed attentiveness to detail and an eye for aesthetics, as well as the abilities and work ethic required to implement cohesive visual communication as well as improve existing materials.

Resourceful problem-solving and quick, concise responsiveness in a variety of contexts are also areas in which I am strongly competent. I enjoy learning through experience, and I approach challenges with curiosity and a willingness to grow.

Your consideration of me for this position is truly an honor. Thank you.
