Home Depot was a wonderful place to work both to learn as well as to just stop by to shop. The employees are caring and it was them that taught me that it's important to stop and talk to customers to understand what they need. A few other things I learned there were;

- Interior & Exterior design
- color matching
- the chemical makeup of paint, stains and epoxies.

- Customer Interaction and Ettiquite
- Arranging displays In such a way it is appealing to customers
